Campus Crusade New Staff Training

“Do you believe that your ministry is significant? Then you’ll be confident in talking with others about it and inviting them to partner with you.”

This is a challenge that stuck with me from the conference, called New Staff Training, that I attended September 10-20. The intent of this conference was to familiarize the new staff with Campus Crusade policies and cast Biblical vision for our jobs—mostly focusing on the process of finding a team of financial and prayer partners.

In the past, I’ve lost perspective of who God is and what He called me to do, so I procrastinated in finding ministry partners. Even now, I have to choose to think about asking people to partner with me in the way the speaker proposed—that God has called me into a significant role with eternal consequences—then I’m able to step out in faith and boldly tell people about ministry and invite them to join me. God is glorified as my vision is renewed.

So what’s my vision, more specifically? To win college students for Christ, build them in their faith and send them out as equipped ambassadors for Christ. And I’m going to do this at Kent State University! I’ll be able to report there as soon as God has finished assembling a team of financial and prayer partners for me. This is my focus starting now, so I’ll call you soon to get together.

I’m really excited about what God has in store at Kent State, and I’m thankful that you come alongside of me and provide encouragement, prayer and financial gifts. Together, we’re impacting eternity.

In Christ’s Love,

Vonette Bright, the co-founder of Campus Crusade, and me at New Staff Training
